“The name of God (YHWH) is a tower of strength, the righteous run to it and is [thus] strengthened.” Proverbs 18:10

In times of trouble, there is no one secure location where one can seek shelter. Modern mythology perpetuates the hope that the Land of Israel alone is to be a safe haven when all hell breaks out around the world. I arouse much religious ire when I pop this bubble of fantasy. I remind those who inquire that there are absolutely no promises anywhere in the Bible or in classical Judaic literature that those who live in the Holy Land are somehow more safe in times of danger than anyone, anywhere else. I remind them to read Zechariah 13:8-9 (quoted below).

Granted, some of those modern-day religious leaders who promote this myth claim it is God's Will and the revealed wisdom of the Sages. Yet, none of these so-called religious leaders can honestly claim that any of them have any type of link to, or direct contact with God. They have no clue as to how to establish real contact and personal communion with Heaven. These so-called leaders do a great deal of talking. Very few have anything actually good and real to say. I feel remorse for those who are persuaded to follow the misguided and unconnected.

There are not and will not be definitive physical safe havens for people to run to in times of crises. This was a lesson learned well by those who fled from the German Nazis in WWII. Yet, by no means does this say that there are no safe havens at all. By all means, safe havens, there are! But, you must understand first what a safe haven is supposed to be. Then, you must grasp how to get to the authentic safe havens. And, access to them is not through any physical door or passageway.

There is only one guaranteed safe haven for today and anytime in the future. This is God's holy Name YHWH. This Name alone is the One that God, the Creator revealed Himself. God Himself said this is His Name when He said, “I am YHWH,” (Ex. 20:2).

This Name alone contains the promise of salvation. “And it shall be, in all the land, says God (YHWH) two parts in it shall be cut off, and die, but the third shall be left in it. And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried, he shall CALL UPON MY NAME and I will answer him. I will say, this is My people, he will say YHWH is my G-D.” Zechariah 13:8-9.

To call upon the Name of YHWH, this is a tower of strength. The righteous run towards the Name seeking to recite it, chant it, and dance with it on their lips. By chanting the Holy Name in its many forms, one enables his mind/soul to open to receive Divine influx which permeates the mind and enables one to intuit the Way and Will of Heaven. In times of hardships and danger the righteous turn to God's Name. They place it in their mind and keep it upon their lips. The righteous individual is transformed thereby into a far greater spiritual human being. Their conscious mind is overridden and the Counsel of God arises from deep within one's heart (Proverbs 19:21). This counsel alone will guide one, from one physical safe haven to the next, each for the time that they will remain safe.

God's Name YHWH is thought to be a mystery, but this is not so. It is thought that the proper way to pronounce it and use it is a lost art, but this too, is not so. Nothing has been lost. Nothing has been forgotten. What has been lost is the desire to learn this sacred knowledge. What has been lost is the discipline and sacrifice necessary to learn, to train and to thus accomplish the great things that knowing the Name can provide.

One who knows the Name understands and knows its usage. One who gains mastery in these sacred practices is called a master of the good Name. This is the true and actual meaning of one called a "Ba'al Shem Tov." Many have held this title. Some still do. The identities of these righteous souls is irrelevant. They accomplished their accomplishments in private and they continue to work in private to this day. Many seek to join their number. Few make the necessary sacrifices and disciplines in order to succeed.

We can learn the sacred knowledge. The information is accessible. Yet, once the information is accessed, one must then put into practice the necessary lifestyle to transform one's life to enable one's mind to reach out and touch the parallel world. Form is one thing, but no form can be full without the proper Force to fill it. Every body needs a soul in order to be alive. The form of the Name does not work alone without the Force that possesses it. The information is accessible. Those willing to make the necessary sacrifices to implement it are few.

The Name of God YHWH is strength. The righteous know this and seek out the Name. As they bond with the Name through the proper teachings, they are strengthened thereby. Through this strength, they are prepared to face the hard times and tribulations to come. God's Name guides the righteous and keeps them safe.
